Report of the Board of Education.

The Board of Education of Newton submit the following as their annual report :

We believe the year can be regarded as one of more than usual interest and progress in many respects. The Pond street school has unexpectedly increased in size from the smallest school in rank to the fourth in number of pupils, and third in roll of perfect attendance. Has been in charge of Miss Myra M. Day, who has not spared any effort on her part to make the school profitable to her pupils. The school has been satisfactory to the Board, and we believe to the parents.

The Rowe's Corner school has been in charge of Miss Bertha M. Still, whose qualifications for the work were principally her normal school training ; but her work has been very satisfactory, and we believe of more than usual profit. Miss Still has shown that she has a love for her work, and possesses qualities necessary to make a successful teacher. We note with pleasure the result of her efforts to inspire her pupils to take advantage of all the privileges our schools afford them to secure an education.

The Junction school was in charge of Miss Anna L. George the spring term with her usual success, but she labored under difficulties that are always apparent under like circumstances, some of which, suffice it to say, "A prophet is not without honor," etc.

The fall term, in charge of Miss Florence L. James, who came prepared for her work with some year or more experience teaching and training school education. With primary classes she did very satisfactory work.

The winter term, in charge of Miss Edna M. Houghton, was very satisfactory. Although a short term, Miss Houghton's work commended itself to all who are interested and acquainted with the best methods of instruction.

The village Primary School, in charge of Miss M. E. Bemis, has been of more than usual profit. The advanced class was promoted to the High School in spring, which gave additional time for the remaining pupils, and as this is the largest school in town the Board has endeavored to give every advantage to the teacher they consistently could in the way of help, and with profitable results we believe.

The High School was in charge of Miss Iva A. Woodward the spring and fall term, and the school maintained its rank as second to none in every respect, and her work satisfactory to a majority of the Board, and received the commendation of those who acquainted themselves with her methods and the results. She resigned to accept a better position and Miss Carrie M. Allen succeeded her for the short winter term, which was too short in which to show what we believe Miss Allen is capable of doing with the school. As far as we are able to judge her work was very satisfactory.

During the year we have changed our Franklin Arithmetic for the Revised edition, and this together with maps and charts has swelled our bill for books to an unusual amount, but the need has been apparent for a long time.

We do not wish it to be forgotten that in the near future we expect a commodious building large enough to accommodate the Village Primary and High Schools, and as soon as the financial condition of the town will admit, all interested in our schools hope to see a move in this direction.

In the matter of care and supervision of our schools, it is believed that much better results for the money expended might be obtained by uniting with some of our adjoining towns, and employing some one who is qualified to look after the matter of instruction and methods adopted by teachers, with a special view of securing trained teachers and the best methods, which under the present system the School Board labors under difficulties, because few of our citizens are able or willing to give the time necessary to accomplish what is desired.
